DATELINE NBC

Friday, April 1 (9pm ET/8pm Central): Three people are gunned down, two fatally, in a quiet Georgia town. A 2-hour "Dateline," Dennis Murphy unravels the layers of a mystery that took the lives of a husband and son, leaving a mother devastated and a family torn apart.

Sunday : Hoda Kotb tells the story of how one transatlantic flight swept a child from his home in New York, and cut his father completely out of his life. And, even though courts found the mother unfit, a 4 year international custody battle has failed to bring his son home.

Friday, April 8 (9pm ET/8pm Central): A 2-hr "Dateline," Keith Morrison brings viewers the disturbing story of how two teenage girls suddenly vanished during the day, and how their families received justice for what happened to them. He speaks exclusively with San Diego Sheriff's homicide detectives who offer details about the investigation into the Chelsea King and Amber Dubois murders. As a result of their tragic story, former Gov., Arnold Schwarzenegger, signed Chelsea's Law to better protect children in California. Repeat

Sunday, April 10 (7pm ET/6pm Central): A clearing house for unwanted babies in Moscow, Keith Morrison tells the harrowing story of one boy who was institutionalized because he was born with cerebral palsy. After years of loneliness and rejection, the charismatic child's life takes a turn - someone was on his side.

Friday, April 15 at 9pm ET/8pm Central: An expectant mother killed in cold blood. Linking a celebrated former pro football player and several women in his life to the investigation, Rob Stafford tells the story of how detectives were committed to bringing the killer or killers to justice. 21 year old Robin Hoynes, murdered in a KFC. It took over 20 years to catch her killer. Keith Morrison tells the story of an intrepid detective and an aggressive Deputy DA who cracked this cold case and helped a family finally put their sister to rest.

Sunday, April 17 at 7pm ET/6pm Central: Chris Hansen goes deep inside Mexico's drug war. With exclusive access, he investigates the violence in Juarez and tells the story of a mother who pursued her daughter's killer and then gave her life for her campaign against cartel corruption.

Friday, April 22 at 9pm ET/8pm Central: Two New Jersey boys, raised in the burbs, born to achieve great things; one an international banker, the other a real estate developer. Dennis Murphy reports on the strange and untimely deaths of the Kissel brothers.

A family hunting trip in Newfoundland leaves a father dead. Keith Morrison tells the story of how one rainy, dreary and foggy night, a woman shot and killed something she said she thought was a bear -- it wasn't.

Sunday, April 24 at 7pm ET/6pm Central: The sweet girl-next-door, a commoner with coal miner roots, in line for the British throne. Days before the highly anticipated Royal Wedding, Dennis Murphy tells the story of Kate Middleton, her family's humble beginnings, and her courtship with a Prince. A remarkable family journey from the mines to royal lineage complete.

Friday, April 29 at 9pm ET/8pm Central: PATH OF DESTRUCTION In a Dateline exclusive, Brian Williams reports on the historic tornado outbreak, severe thunderstorm and flash flood warnings ravaging the U.S. To date, more than 160 tornadoes, covering 15 states have swept through the nation. Resembling a war zone, the devastation is heartbreaking; the preliminary toll shows at least 250 deaths thus far. Williams will be on site, covering the destruction and impact of these horrendous storms.

THE ROYAL WEDDING Live from London, Ann Curry reports on the Royal Wedding. With behind-the-scenes coverage, find out what happens once the pomp and circumstance is over. From the unveiling of the dress to the 4 minute walk down the aisle, the vows to the kiss, and the carriage ride along the parade route.

Sunday, May 1 at 7pm ET/6pm Central: Tom Brokaw reports from the White House as he sits down with First Lady Michelle Obama and Dr. Jill Biden, wife of the Vice President, to discuss their new campaign. Joining Forces raises awareness of members of the armed forces and their families, sending a message that "no matter how you feel about America's wars, Americans have to do better for those who fight - and for their families."

Brian Williams goes inside Congresswoman Gabrielle Gifford's office to talk with her staff about how they're coping with the tragic incident that left Gifford in rehabilitation. Working hard to regain function in her right side, she's able to speak in short, simple phrases and is expected to attend the blast-off of space shuttle Endeavour on Friday.

An exclusive interview, Matt Lauer sits down with Steven Tyler. Candidly and emotionally, Tyler opens up to Lauer about his triumphant year. With a new book out and his role on "American Idol," he talks about recovery, a new album and upcoming tour with Aerosmith.

Josh Mankiewicz sits down with the stars of Universal Studios upcoming comedy, Bridesmaids. From the people who brought us Knocked Up and 40-Year-Old Virgin, Mankiewicz provides viewers with a sneak peak before the film hits theaters on May 13.

Friday, May 6, 9pm ET/8pm Central: In his first television interview, Ryan Widmer talks to "Dateline" after being on trial three times for the death of his 24-year old wife Sarah. A controversial case, first reported on "Dateline" back in September 2009, Dennis Murphy revisits the story of a newlywed found guilty of murdering his wife.

Sunday, May 8 at 7pm ET/6pm Central: A custody battle so full of shocking twists and turns, it reached the highest levels of both the U.S. and Brazilian governments and made international news. In a "Dateline" exclusive, David Goldman speaks out for the first time in a year and half, since his emotional reunion with Sean. Meredith Vieira reports on how this father and son are coping after being torn apart for so long. And for fans who want to interact with Goldman, he will be taking viewers' questions on "Dateline's" Facebook profile during the show.

Friday, May 13, 9pm ET/8pm Central: Mark and Michelle Weinberger had what many would consider a picture perfect relationship until he took her away to the Greek Isles for her 30th birthday and never came back. Rob Stafford tells the story of the The Great Escape, previously reported on by Pulitzer Prize winning writer Buzz Bissinger for Vanity Fair.

Sunday, May 15, 7pm ET/6pm Central: A couple in Phoenix, AZ have loaned their house to "Dateline's" Chris Hansen to test how easily a homeowner can end up spending hundreds, even thousands of dollars on unnecessary home repairs. Equipped with hidden cameras from top to bottom, watch as repairmen are put to the test to see if they can make a fix quickly, honestly and efficiently.

Friday, May 20, 9pm ET/8pm Central: "Dateline's" Chris Hansen tells the story of a young woman's quest to find her mother's alleged killer. Theresa Ramirez, who was 7 years old when her mother Rosie was murdered, made it her mission to revisit the 18-year old cold case. With the help of Deputy U.S. Marshal Aaron Garcia, a former Marine, the duo worked diligently on this case for over four years. Tracking down key witnesses, they enlisted the help of a forensic artist who created an age-progression sketch of the man in question; whom they believed had fled to Mexico.

Sunday, May 22, 7pm ET/6pm Central: With undercover cameras, "Dateline's" Chris Hansen goes inside a so-called head shop in New York City to report on bath salts, one of the newest designer drugs on the market. Its effects, according to the Drug Enforcement Administration, are similar to those of cocaine and methamphetamines. It's also easy to buy and despite what are described as devastating effects, it's legal to sell. Then, Chris Hansen goes undercover as a bike messenger pulls out a pair of bolt cutters and steals a bike; he accompanies the police as they track down thieves using high-tech tracking devices; and a bike dealer who thinks they're trying to sell him a stolen bike goes after Chris Hansen - it's the most explosive confrontation of Hansen's career.

Friday, June 3 AT 9pm ET/8pm Central: Kate Snow reports on what happened to Veno Leigertwood when he was shot down in front of his home in a suburb of Philadelphia. A poster boy for success, why would someone want to kill this young man? Two years later, the case is still unsolved as his wife, mother, sister and friends look for answers. An update to one of Dateline's fan favorites, Keith Morrison tells the terrifying story of a little girl who is kidnapped by a family friend. 30 years later, a determined woman finds her way home and puts the pieces back together, reuniting with members of her biological family.

Sunday, June 5 at 7pm ET/6pm Central: Ann Curry shares a story of generosity. Amid job losses and the recession, the people of Grafton, Wisc. came together to renovate the home of one extraordinary family. The volunteer efforts resulted in a gift this struggling town did not expect -- hope and inspiration.

Sunday, June 12 at 7pm ET/6pm Central: A show that garnered a lot of attention when it first aired, Kate Snow takes a provocative and revealing hidden-camera look at how kids really respond to apparent bullying situations when they don't know their parents are watching. Repeat

Friday, June 17 at 9pm ET/8pm Central: It's a story that has captivated the nation for three years - the death of little Caylee Anthony and the young mother accused of murdering her. As the prosecution builds its death penalty case against Casey Anthony, Dennis Murphy reports on the explosive new evidence emerging in a Central Florida courtroom and untangles the family dynamics at the heart of this tragic story. The murder of Theresa Insana has haunted her family and friends since the young casino sales executive was murdered in Las Vegas in 2004. Experienced investigators called the crime scene one of the most puzzling they'd ever come across. Josh Mankiewicz leads the Unsolved Case Squad in a discussion about the evidence.

Friday, June 24 at 9pm ET/8pm Central: Florida native Jimmy Trindade knew his way around the Bahamian islands as well as any local. Chris Hansen reports on what happened when Jimmy Trindade piloted his best friend's 38-foot Donzi from Spanish Cay back to Palm Beach and went missing. His boat was found, but he was not. From an extensive search that lasted months to strange twists and turns, Trindade's daughter and brother are still looking for answers.

On a frantic predawn morning in Lima, Ohio, Dr. Mark Wangler called 911 to say his carbon monoxide detector was going off and his wife was having a seizure. But when she died that morning, why did police doubt his story? Was it an accident or was it murder? Kate Snow reports on this tangled case and how it tore a family apart.

Sunday, June 26 at 7pm ET/6pm Central: Lester Holt takes viewers into the lives of Chicago communities facing an All-American problem: children growing up quickly and often dying too soon.
